Describe the Redis data structures that you are going to use to implement the functionalities you described in the previous point.

To implement the movie information products I will use Redis set with key "movie:id", value is information of the movie with different fields.